Visiting team to determine accreditation

by Mary Holland

A five-member team from the North Central Association will be on-campus Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to determine whether Eastern should be reaccredited.

Jon Laible, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said the North Central Association evaluates universities in the north central part of the United States every 10 years to see whether they should be reaccredited. Eastern was last accredited in 1975.

"The question which the North Central team will be asking is whether we live up to our own standards," Laible said.

Laible added that the team will look at a recently completed self-study which examined Eastern's strengths and weaknesses.

"I think what they will be doing is confirming what we said in our self-study," Laible said.

The self-study, which was sent to the NCA in September, involved each segment of the university through a steering committee comprised of eight subcommittees responsible for evaluating information and data.

The study, which began in May 1983, showed that the university is underfunded in excess of $2.5 million, and reports that Eastern faculty are among the lowest paid in the Board of Governors system.

The study also showed that underfunding has caused difficulties in filling positions because salaries at Eastern are not competitive.

"What the North Central team will do is look at the university and see if that self-study is accurate," Laible said.

Laible added that he believes Eastern will have no problems getting reaccredited. "On the basis of what we know, we will be," he said.

The five-member team will make a preliminary recommendation Wednesday and the final decision will be made by the association, he said.

The visitation team is composed of faculty and administrators from the north central part of the United States. The team will be headed by Kenneth Linder from the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

Others members of the team include Nancy Avakian from the University of Missouri at St. Louis; Margarette Eby from the University of Michigan-Flint; and Larry Trussell from the University of Nebraska.

Laible said the team will meet with members of several campus organizations including the Council of Academic Affairs, the Council on Teacher Education and the Council on University Planning and Budgeting.

In addition, the team will meet with Student Body President Joe Butler.

Business school seeks expansion

by Amy Zurawski

Due to a growing student enrollment in Eastern's College of Business, officials are attempting to raise funds for expansion of the college's facilities.

A $426,300 planning grant for this purpose was recently approved by the Board of Governors, although preparations for any type of construction are quite a ways off.

David Hale, BOG assistant executive director for fiscal affairs, said, "Eastern's request was approved because of the need they exhibited for more facilities in order to accommodate their growing School of Business."

Ted Ivarie, Dean of the College of Business, said the planning grant would be used to create tentative plans for 50,000 extra square feet of space for the college.

However, he noted that no exact plans of how the extra space would be created have been designed yet. He added if the grant is approved, "research would be done to determine the most beneficial method."

"The School of Business badly needs room for extra classrooms, office and storage space in order to accommodate all of the business facilities in one building," he added.

"Having everything in one building it would be very beneficial because better facilities would be able to be made for the faculty and students and everything would be in the same proximity, making interaction easier," he added.

Currently, Ivarie noted, the school's facilities are located in both Coleman and Blair Halls.

But although the BOG approved the planning grant, Barbra Platt, assistant director of planning, said before any funds for planning can be obtained, the request must also be approved by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

And, Hale said he "has no idea if it (the grant) will pass at the IBHE."

Platt also said she believes the approval of the grant request by the IBHE is "very iffy."

"The BOG approval is just the very first step in a long process," Platt said, adding that word should come from IBHE by mid-December.

If the request is approved by the IBHE, it must also be approved by the State Legislature and the Capitol Development Board, Platt added.

In addition, Platt noted that a similar proposal was approved by the BOG and brought before the IBHE in 1981.

However, Platt said that request was denied by the IBHE because "of reluctance to approve any money for capital projects because money in the state is very tight."

Dropout rate highest in four years, doubles since '80

by Julie Cambria

A recent retention report shows Eastern's dropout rate in 1983-84 was the highest in the last four years.

The report, compiled by the Dean of Academic Development, Shirley Moore, includes students who leave because of academic problems and those who leave for other reasons.

According to the report, 54.5 percent of the students who dropped out in Spring 1984 were in good academic standing.

The report also shows that the number of students who have left before graduation has almost doubled since Fall 1980. At that time, there were 645 dropouts compared with 1,113 in Fall 1984.

Moore said she thinks there are several reasons why there has been an increase in the number of students dropping out.

"I think the new dismissal policy has something to do with the increase," said Moore.

Under the new dismissal policy, instituted in the summer of 1983, students whose grade point averages fall below 2.00 are placed on probation and must show "satisfactory progress" the next semester if they are to remain in school.

Moore also said the improving economy may be a factor in the number of students dropping out.

"A lot of times more kids go to school when the economy's bad," Moore said. "If there are jobs available they may leave for that reason."

Moore added that some students decide they don't know what they want to do and may leave school and come back later.

"For some students it's good for them to leave," she said. "Not every student should be retained."

Janet Holley, transfer coordinator, agreed with Moore. "Some students dropout and come back the next year but they're still counted in the report as dropped out."

Holley said other students leave Eastern because the university doesn't offer the program they want.

"Some students do internships their senior year and they aren't listed," Holley said. "I don't think it's a great number but it is a factor."

Holley added that some students who leave are just dissatisfied with Eastern and leave to go elsewhere.

Fred Preston, coordinator of the Academic Support and Retention committee, said retention of students is not limited to only students who are in poor academic standing.

"The retention effort is aimed toward all students," Preston said. "It is for those who are academically capable and those who are not."

"We are working toward finding out why students leave the university and we have been examining efforts made on campus to retain students," he said.

Preston added that the committee is in the process of seeing what data is

Kirkpatrick resigns seat at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS—As she prepares to leave her post as chief U.S. delegate, Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick is buoyed by signs of increased U.S. effectiveness in countering anti-American actions and rhetoric at the United Nations.

She points to successes such as the recent withdrawal of a hostile Nicaraguan resolution in the General Assembly and the deletion of reference to the United States in a resolution dealing with the arms supplies to South Africa.

"Generally speaking, the U.S. position has improved in each of the last three years," she said in an interview Friday from her office in Washington D.C. "We still are not a great U.N. power, but our situation has substantially improved."

Mrs. Kirkpatrick attributed U.S. progress at the United Nations to a "more active American posture," including intensive lobbying efforts in world capitals and in the U.N. corridors.

Royal family on guard for IRA raid

LONDON—Armed police stood guard over the royal family Sunday as thousands of British veterans marched to honor the nation's war dead.

Despite fears of an IRA attack, the open-air Remembrance Day ceremony marking the anniversary of the end of World War I was carried out uneventfully, ending with a solemn wreath-laying ceremony.

But it marked the second straight day of extraordinary security around Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Queen Elizabeth II and other members of the royal family following British press reports of an Irish Republican Army plot to assassinate a member of the royal family by Christmas.

It also marked the first time, according to news reports, that Britain's crack Special Air Service counterinsurgency troops had been detailed to guard the royal family on British soil.

Shiite leader still held by Israelis

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel signaled Sunday that it would consider a truce with Shiite Moslem militiamen in southern Lebanon, but refused to release four Shiite leaders as a condition for resuming negotiations over troop withdrawals.

Talks on the withdrawal of Israeli troops, who have occupied southern Lebanon since June of 1982, opened on Thursday. They were due to resume on Monday, but Lebanese Prime Minister Rashid Karami suspended them after Israel arrested 13 members of the Shiite Amal militia in south Lebanon on the talks' opening day.

The arrests came one day after an Israeli soldier was killed in an attack blamed on Amal militia. Nine of the 13 men arrested were later released.

Karami said Saturday that Lebanon would not return to the negotiating table until Israel freed the remaining four militiamen, including Mahmoud Fakih, the Amal commander in the region.

GOP's Congress lead may be brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans retained control of the Senate and increased their numbers in the Democratic-controlled House, but President Reagan may enjoy only the briefest honeymoons with the new Congress despite his huge re-election victory.

The GOP gain of 14 seats clearly makes the House a tad more conservative in make up, but it falls far short of the GOP hopes of regaining the king of "working majority" Republicans enjoyed in the first two years of the Reagan term.

The new makeup suggests a Congress not nearly as pliable as the Congress that Reagan had to work with in 1981—when he was able to push one economic program after another.

White House spokesman Larry Speaks said Sunday he wouldn't characterize the administration's legislative strategy as a 100-day

"We are not going to release the prisoners in order to continue the discussions," a senior Israeli official said after a meeting of Prime Minister Shimon Peres' Cabinet.

But the official, speaking on the condition he not be identified, said, "We are not being passive" in trying to resolve the dispute and restart the talks. Other sources said Israeli negotiators were holding discussions with the United Nations representatives serving as hosts for the talks at their south Lebanon headquarters in Naqoura.

An Israeli Defense Ministry statement indicated that Israel might stop its anti-guerrilla sweeps against Amal if the militia stopped ambushing Israeli soldiers.

"If the Amal organization will be willing to stop the attacks by declaration of intention and deed during the talks, Israel will behave in a similar fashion," the statement said.

plan, "but there's surly going to be a push on our part to see that our budget proposals move through Congress as quickly as possible."

He said it was "legislative reality" that it would be best to win approval of Reagan's proposals before the mid-term congressional elections in 1986. Parties with sitting presidents always lose seats in mid-term elections.

Republicans didn't even come close to their goal of winning back the 26 seats they lost to Democrats in 1982, an election which effectively ended Reagan's success in getting legislation through both houses of Congress.

And the modest GOP gains in the House this year were more than offset by the Democratic pickup of two seats in the Senate, trimming GOP control of that chamber to a narrow 53-47 majority.

Many parents enjoy shows

by Michelle Mueller

As many as 12,000 people may have visited Eastern's campus for Parent's Weekend festivities.

The University Board's expected attendance for the weekend was 9,000. However, based on ticket sales last week, an estimated 12,000 people may have attended the various events, Jill Zimmerman, assistant director of Student Activities, said.

The UB and Parent's Club are co-sponsors of the annual event, which provides entertainment for students and their families.

One of the highlights of the weekend was the Steve Landesberg and Lettermen concert Saturday.

Saturday night's Steve Landesberg and Lettermen concert drew a large crowd. However, some people who were unable to hear Landesberg, a comedian who played Sgt. Arthur Dietrich on "Barney Miller," left the gymnasium.

UB vice-chairman Theresa Meier said, "I thought he handled it well." The way in which Landesberg handled the situation added to the humor of his show, she added.

Landesberg impersonated several personalities, from Miss America to Gregory Peck, and most people seemed to agree with Kevin Bischoffer, who said simply, "I thought he was funny."

Bischoffer's parents, Tom and Darlene Bischoffer, came to visit their son Kevin, a sophomore. The Bischoffers said they enjoyed the parent's weekend activities.

"It's been really good. It's more formal, more structured than Southern's," Mrs. Bischoffer said.

Many other parents who attended events said they enjoyed their visit on campus.

Marjorie DeVore and her husband, Ronald, visited their son, Steve, a sophomore.

Mrs. DeVore said, "I like the atmosphere. I love the comraderie. The kids are very friendly."

Myrna and Jim Newkirk, whose son, Jim, is a sophomore said, this was their fifth time coming for Parent's Weekend and each year the activities are nicer.

"I think it's a nice thing to do. Parents like to know what their children are doing and when their away from home you don't know," Mrs. Newkirk said.

Junior Sherilyn Allen's parents, Eddie and Mary Etta Allen also visited this weekend.

Mr. Allen said, "I think it's pretty nice. We've been here every year. We always go to the football game and the shows. We attend about everything."

Sherilyn said, "It's nice to have your parents down for the weekend."

United Way is one benefactor for livelihood

Besides conducting fund-raising events, non-profit organizations' rely on volunteer work and financial contributions as staples for survival.

Though most non-profit organizations supplement their bank accounts with fund-raisers, too many times these organizations have to have a benefactor to stay alive and well.

Editorial

Non-profit organizations such as the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Charleston Day Care Center, Help Line, Hour House, Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Red Cross are just a few of the worthwhile causes which depend on donations for survival.

For the 22 non-profit organizations in eastern Coles County, the annual United Way campaign serves as one benefactor contributing a big chunk of dough.

Since the United Way drive began Oct. 1 to seek donations, United Way volunteers have started to generate a tremendous effort to reach a $80,000 goal.

And $80,000 is a lot of money to divvy between 22 hungry charitable agencies which all deserve to receive a slice of the donation pie.

United Way's hard-working volunteers should be commended for their efforts to help the volunteers of these non-profit agencies. The volunteers are just as important as the money.

And Eastern is a large voluntary ingredient in the United Way drive. Faculty and staff members have contributed donations from a payroll plan to help reach a $12,000 university goal. As a matter of fact, Eastern has already amassed $10,200 toward the goal.

Students have also volunteered time to the campaign. For instance, the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority has solicited donations door-to-door for the United Way cause.

But students don't have to limit their donation to legwork; monetary donations will also help the agencies keep their purpose living.

The United Way drive is a voluntary campaign directed toward supplementing non-profit organizations with money and volunteers are the integral ingredient making the United Way one big benefactor for the agencies' livelihoods.

RHA endorsements

Editor:

The Residence Hall Association is pleased to announce its endorsement of the following candidates for the Nov. 14 student government elections.

In the residence hall district we have endorsed Michelle Long, Joel Lopez, Barry Shawgo and LaRon Wilhelm. At large, we have endorsed Teresa Collard, Larry Markey, Terese Papa and Kim Swanson. In addition, we wish to announce our support of the athletic fee increase.

RHA thanks all candidates for seeking our endorsement and encourages all residence hall students to vote on Wednesday.

Michael Hoehne

RHA endorsement chairman

Vote for dedication

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to encourage students to cast their votes for three outstanding candidates in Wednesday's election: Teresa Collard, Larry Markey and Barry Shawgo.

Through my involvement with Student Senate and RHA, I have had the pleasure of working with each of them, and have found them all to be very dedicated to improving the quality of student government at Eastern.

These three candidates have the experience necessary to bring to student government the kind of leadership it needs. They are ready to work for you by working with you, and I urge you to reward their hard work and dedication by casting votes in their favor Wednesday.

Leslie Garrigan

'Use your voices'

Editor:

A few weeks ago, I announced my intention to run for the office of mayor in Charleston. However, I have found this position to be a stumbling block in my long-term career goals.

I sought the job for one reason: to alleviate the political injustice that has plagued Eastern students too long. I am only one person and can hardly cry out loud enough to let the city know that the students are tired of being exploited, but you the students, and citizens, can.

Too many people have died to allow you the right to voice your political and social rights. So please don't let this city run your lives. Use your voices.

Steve Selby

Paint ugly picture

Editor:

I am writing this letter to encourage students to vote yes Nov. 14 on the referendum to increase student fees for the purpose of generating funds for the Eastern athletic program. I believe that the additional funds are both necessary and vital to the overall success of our athletic programs and our university as well.

Most people do not realize the impact the athletic program has on our daily activities. Let me for a moment paint an ugly picture for the students of this university. Just for fun, let's suppose that athletics don't exist at Eastern and that they never did. Now let's create an imaginary student named Jack and see what he would do in the absence of our athletic program.

On Monday, Jack goes over to Lantz Gymnasium to play racquetball only to discover that the building is gone. It is gone because—without the athletic program—there was neither the money nor the necessity to build Lantz; oh well, McAfee will do.

The very next day Jack decides that since he is feeling great he will go put in a couple miles on our beautiful track. . . oh no, that's gone too. After all, why have a track with no track team? Jack, getting a little frustrated by now, arrives at the conclusion that the only possible solution is to run on the two-mile woodchip trail.

Wrong again Jack, Tom Woodall was never cross-country coach (no team) so he never made the woodchip trail. On Wednesday, it is frigidly cold outside and Jack decides to play indoor tennis—oh yeah, no Lantz Gym. By Friday Jack has become thoroughly disgusted and he decided to go to Marty's for a beer only to find that it too is nonexistent because Marty Pattin never played baseball at Eastern, (we didn't have a team) and consequently he never created the illustrious bar. Poor Jack!

It is obvious that this is a bit dramatized, but I think it gets across the point that athletics are very important to our university.

Sure, they might not disappear without the extra money, but since we moved to Division I four years ago we have been using our small budget to compete against big schools.

If we expect to keep our enrollment steady, and our school competitive during tough economic times, we need to attract students and nothing does this better than a solid athletic program. We need our athletic program strong. Vote yes on Nov. 14.

Aaron Shepley

Board of Governors representative

Energy is crucial

Editor:

It seems to me that Eastern is taking a very near-sighted approach to the idea concerning the cancellation of the energy management program.

Energy is by far the most crucial ingredient in our economy today and a major focal point in the political arena. It is the base of every industrial nation in the world. Without it, we could not produce with near the capacity that we have at present and would not be the world leader in agriculture and industry that we are today.

Seeing as how our earth is a finite system and that our country is using our limited resources at an ever-increasing rate, it will only be a short while before we experience another energy crunch.

A prudent business manager in realizing future market trends will invariably set up a program to steer his company in a direction that will help it progress smoothly through uncertain times.

It makes good sense to continue a program that will produce highly qualified professionals who have a clear understanding of energy use and demand of our society and will have the ability to help us manage them properly.

Furthermore, canceling the energy management program is a poor excuse to reallocate funds to other programs in the College of Business.

If the university is concerned with the quantity of students per educational dollar, then please explain the low number of spring 1984 graduates in the following programs: geography, four; German and French, one each; philosophy, four; and history, 10.

Having programs such as these is the essence of the word university, but obviously our administrators have overlooked this point.

I feel that energy management is a vital program and other solutions should be considered before a valuable program such as this is dropped because of low enrollment.

Hike for support groups too

Editor:

I'm writing this letter to help clarify the proposed athletic funding referendum.

First, one must realize that this referendum not only supports the athletic teams, but will also provide essential funding for the marching band, flag line, Pink Panthers and cheerleaders.

This funding is essential for the continued existence of these athletic support groups and will also allow them to improve their levels of performance.

Secondly, the reason why R.C. Johnson seemed "vague" in his explanation of his funding breakdown is that it is extremely difficult for the athletic coaches to determine their exact funding needs for the upcoming year until their schedules are finalized.

My third point is that Johnson has promised that all athletic teams will receive money from this referendum and that there will be a four year freeze on the athletic funding. Furthermore, he has stated that ticket prices will remain same.

Finally, by making these support groups better, the university looks better and, therefore, makes all students' education worth more on a "prestige" level.

In conclusion, I ask for your support on Nov. 14—not only for the athletes, but also for their support groups.

Sharon L. Ernest

Newsletter is a new beginning

Editor:

I want to express my appreciation to The Daily Eastern News for treating what is a sensitive subject with such responsible objectivity. I am greatly encouraged by the nonjudgmental attitude regarding the Charleston Gay Connection Line and the enormous response I have received due to your coverage.

It is tremendously important to this community as a whole to finally realize that acceptance of homosexuality is not necessarily painful or threatening.

I started the newsletter hoping to make an acceptable mode of communication available to gay people. Now, because the ideas behind the newsletter have been supported by so many heterosexual people, as well as gay people, I realize that this kind of contact and communication does more than just bring this issue out into the open.

The fact that this kind of interaction can take place offers a certain optimism, presents the possibility that those who belong to a minority group of any kind, no matter how controversial, can begin to express their concerns, to be less afraid of being themselves and of being honest about themselves.

The gay community here at Eastern has responded so overwhelmingly to the Charleston Gay Connection Line partly because the need for the newsletter is so strong and partly because of the positive attitude that The Daily Eastern News, as representatives of the university, through its editorials, has displayed.

I look forward to an increase in this awareness and hope that the newsletter is just a beginning.

Administration asking for hike

Editor:

As speaker of the Student Senate, I would like to encourage every Eastern student to vote in the Student Government election Nov. 14. Students will be asked to select more than 20 senators—and in an issue of great importance to their pocketbooks—they will be asked to approve an athletic fee increase.

Four years ago, the athletic administration came to the students to ask for a similar fee increase with a promise that no additional request would be made for at least four years. The administration kept this promise.

Now four years later, the administration is asking students for an increase in student support for athletics with the same promise that no request for more money will be made for another four years.

The requested increase of $7 per semester is being asked for by the administration to help offset inflation of more than 30 percent since the last fee hike approval and also to help the women's athletic program.

The Student Senate has neither supported or opposed this fee increase because it believes the ultimate decision should lie with you, the student body. If you have any questions concerning the proposal, please feel free to contact either the athletic department at 581-3219 or the Student Government Office at 581-5522. Remember: vote Nov. 14.

Ron Wesel
student senate speaker

Hike not to match budgets

Editor:

As everyone knows, there will be a referendum on the Nov. 14 election. This referendum concerns the proposed $7 fee increase for both athletics and the their support groups (cheerleaders, Pink Panthers, pep band and the marching band).

Due to inflation, which has gone up 32 percent in the last four years, these groups need your support to remain competitive, to upgrade women's athletics and to assist the support groups.

Please note, this money will be used for operations such as travel, recruitment, practice gear, equipment and uniforms. NONE of this money will be used for administrators salaries or athletic scholarships.

The main question students ask today is, "How much money will the football program receive?" This may be a valid question, but there is one fact that seems to have been overlooked.

Granted, the football program may be the largest, but this program also brings in the most revenue of all 19 sports. Another point—do you realize that some other schools' football programs (schools Eastern competes against every year) are larger than our entire athletic program as a whole?

We are not trying to match other schools' budgets and we will never match them. I mentioned before, the money is needed for operations.

So, Nov. 14 vote yes—you can see Eastern's athletic program needs your help.

Athletics need the best

Editor:

I have read the column by John Best in the Nov. 8 Daily Eastern News and would like to take this time to point out a couple of its shortcomings.

I am very unhappy with your view of intercollegiate athletics and I trust this letter will spur a little more thought on the subject.

Opinion

Letters and columns
represent the views of the authors

The Daily Eastern News
Monday, November 12, 1984

It was quite clear from the column that you care very little about athletics and lack basic knowledge in the area. In fact, I'd be willing to bet the house that you never competed in many athletic contests and therefore have no idea of their educational value.

As a former athlete and current Eastern student, I have seen many young people grow through the great educational medium of athletics. Our society has always placed a great emphasis on athletics and will probably continue to do so. If you believe that athletes do not learn through intercollegiate athletics, you're one of a very few and I ask you to reconsider.

Eastern has a proud athletic tradition. If you do not know that, I ask you to take a walk around Lantz and look at the various pictures and awards throughout the building. Recently, R.C. Johnson has asked the student body to help continue that great tradition.

I honestly feel that Johnson is trying to meet the student body halfway. He has not been in his "ivory tower" too long. He knows education is expensive; he's faced with that fact every day.

Your idea of our athletes peddling items in the street corner is horrendous. I know, I've been that route.

Students are not as poor as you would have them be and the $14 a year increase is very reasonable. I urge you to hike over to the athletic department and find out where your money goes. Get the facts on the situation, then write. Most readers would rather read the facts.

You're right on one count, athletics are expensive. However, athletics are for everyone—not just the few that are fortunate enough to participate directly. Athletics are for the students, faculty, community and even you John Best.

I urge you to participate. The well-rounded education that you see Eastern students paying so dearly for should include not only athletics but art, music, psychology and others as well. I say let's get behind the $14 a year increase and give our athletes a chance to be their best.

Mourning ends as Gandhi's son prepares statement

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—In the final mourning ritual for assassinated Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, her son and successor scattered her ashes Sunday over the eternal ice of a Himalayan glacier she loved.

With the 12-day national period of mourning ending Monday, Rajiv Gandhi then turned to preparations for his first scheduled policy statement Monday night on India's towering problems.

In New Delhi, schools were due to reopen Monday, but thousands of fearful, riot-scarred Sikhs remained in makeshift refugee camps.

Gandhi, accompanied by his Italian-born wife, Sonia, and their two children, flew to India's northern borders in an Indian air force transport plane to disperse his mother's ashes—in accordance with her wishes—over the always near-freezing headwaters of the sacred Ganges River.

Mrs. Gandhi was killed on Oct. 31, purportedly by two Sikh members of her own security detail. Her body was cremated in a traditional Hindu ceremony three days later. Thirty-five brass and copper urns containing her ashes were distributed briefly in the nation's major cities for tearful farewell ceremonies attended by millions of Indians. The urns were then returned to New Delhi, where the ashes were repackaged for the final journey.

Gandhi and two male cousins carried packages of ashes to a gun carriage for a slow procession to Delhi's Palam airport. His face was somber and lined with grief.

An honor guard presented arms and a military band played a lament, "Flowers of the Forest," as the ashes were carried to the transport plane.

Later, the aircraft circled over the 22,000-foot Gangotri glacier, the main source of the Ganges near India's border with Chinese-ruled Tibet. Under a brilliant, deep-blue sky, Gandhi released a woven basket bearing packets of ashes wrapped in scarlet tissue. The wind tore away the tissue, and the ashes floated silently out over the glacier.

The plane then turned north to Amarnath, in the mountains of disputed Kashmir, not far from the 37-year-old cease-fire line with Pakistan. There, Gandhi released the remainder of the ashes, and the plane banked steeply southward for the 450-mile flight back to the capital.

Gandhi was to outline his immediate policy goals Monday night in a nationwide radio and television address, his first political speech since being appointed to succeed his mother four hours after her death.

He will almost certainly announce his intention to follow his mother's policy of non-alignment in foreign affairs and her socialist policies at home.

His speech was expected to stress his government's determination to take firm action against further communal violence, as well as against the secessionist terrorist movements in Sikh-majority Punjab and in the tribal lands of northeast India.

Baby Fae responds well to heart rejection treatment

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP)—The month-old infant known as Baby Fae has shown signs of rejecting the baboon's heart transplanted into her chest, but it was responding well to treatment, her pediatric cardiologist said Sunday.

"Yes, we have diagnosed an episode of rejection and have already started treating her and she is showing a good response to treatment," Dr. Robin Doroshov said. She said the baby's condition was "not at all" critical.

Baby Fae, whose identity has been kept a secret at her parent's request, received the baboon's heart in an unprecedented operation Oct. 26 at Loma Linda University Medical Center.

Medical center spokeswoman Jayne McGill said Sunday that Baby Fae still was listed in serious but stable condition, as she has since the week following her surgery.

"Over the past 48 hours, we have diagnosed an initial brief rejection episode which is showing a favorable response to appropriate anti-rejection treatment," said McGill, reading from a prepared statement. "Baby Fae continues to do well clinically, feeding well, behaving normally and showing normal heart functions."

"As of this morning, Baby Fae showed no new signs of rejection," the statement said. "She shows no new signs of infection and antibiotics have been discontinued."

Loma Linda doctors have said they expected episodes of rejection in which the infant's disease-fighting immune system tries to attack the baboon heart as foreign tissue but that they hoped to manage such episodes successfully with drugs.

Other doctors, including American Heart Association President Antonio

Gotto, have said total rejection is inevitable and that another transplant would be needed. Loma Linda officials, while holding out hope that the baboon heart will be permanent, have said they will seek a human heart before another baboon heart if a second transplant is required.

Doroshov said Sunday for the first time that Baby Fae's name has been placed on a registry for those seeking human donor organs.

Speaking on the CBS News' "Face the Nation" program from the network's Los Angeles studio, Doroshov said the baby was "doing nicely" Sunday morning, no longer receiving extra oxygen.

She said Baby Fae, whose own heart was severely underdeveloped, was receiving increased doses of immunosuppressant drugs to combat rejection of the baboon heart and that she was being watched closely for any signs of infection.

"Her clinical condition, in other words, to look at her, she appears normal. She continues to very well physically," Doroshov said. "And this is on the basis of tests that are being done to look for early signs of rejection."

Asked about Baby Fae's chances to survive, Doroshov said: "We really don't know and certainly can't promise anything."

Road commissioner dies Friday

Charleston Township Road Commissioner Elmer Lee died in his home Friday following a heart attack, Coles County Coroner Dick Lynch said.

Lee was pronounced dead at 12:15 p.m. at his residence. Lynch said no autopsy will be performed in the case because the heart attack has already been established as the cause of death.

Charleston Township Clerk Bill Hall said the township board will appoint a temporary replacement for Lee's elected office at a meeting Nov. 19. The appointee will hold the position until the April 2 local elections, when the office will be opened up to candidates.

Lee, 59, had lived with his wife, Ester, and was the father of six. One of his sons, Mervin Lee, is one of five people who have applied for temporary appointment to the position, Hall said.

President signs women veterans resolution

by Lisa Green

President Ronald Reagan signed a Congressional resolution recently proclaiming Nov. 11-17 as "National Women Veterans Recognition Week."

For the first time, the nation will pay special tribute to its 1.2 million women military veterans.

The resolution calls for an observance to create greater public awareness and recognition of the contributions of women veterans, to express the nation's appreciation for their service and to inspire more responsive care and services for women veterans.

Peggy Brayfield, chairman of the Women's Studies Council said she is in favor of what the resolution calls for, however she thinks Reagan signed the resolution for political purposes.

"I think Reagan is using it politically and it's too late," Brayfield said. "He's trying to close the gender gap. He has never in the past shown any genuine concern in women's rights and he is now trying to regain ground with women," she said.

Harry N. Walters, administrator of Veterans Affairs, has urged all VA facilities to plan appropriated programs to emphasize the VA's role in serving women veterans.

"Women have played a vital part in the defense of our country from the legendary Molly Pitcher of our American Revolution, through all other conflicts and in peacetime," Walters said.

Women veterans make up 4.1 percent of the 28.2 million total veteran population. The latest figure on the estimated population of women veterans in Illinois is 45,600.

Senate sponsors candidate forum

by Charlotte Arnold

Students will have the opportunity to question the 33 Student Senate candidates Monday in an election forum sponsored by the student awareness committee.

Senator Dan Brosseau, student awareness committee chairman, said the purpose of the forum is to prepare the students for Wednesday's election, by allowing the students to raise issues and question proposals recommended by the candidates.

At the forum, each candidate will explain his qualifications and motivations for candidacy, Brosseau said. The session will then be opened for questions from the audience, he added.

Brosseau noted that a major topic will be athletic fee increase referendum.

Athletic Director R.C. Johnson is proposing to increase athletic fees by $14 a year to fund Eastern's athletic programs and athletic operational costs.

"Students should attend this forum because they (the candidates) are showing through their participation (in the election) that there is an interest on campus," Brosseau said.

Students "should not be afraid to voice their opinions on what they would like to see done or improved on campus," he added.

There are 33 candidates running for 22 open seats. There are five open full-year seats in the off-campus, at-large and residence hall districts.

Brosseau said there are also three open one-semester seats in the off-campus and at-large districts, and one half-year residence hall seat.

The election forum is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon room.

Candidates bid for Student Senate Off-campus

Anticipation

During last spring's Student Government elections, candidates and their supporters gather in the Union Addition Arm-Tuscola room to hear final results. (News file photo)

Bob Zordani, Jr.

Seeking the seat of off-campus senator, freshman Bob Zordani, said, "I'm campaigning because it's something I've never done before."

Zordani, an English major from Elmhurst who has had various sales jobs in the past five years and believes that his experience in dealing with people will be beneficial as student senator.

If elected, Zordani has two major projects in mind. "I plan to start a student organization in support of the nuclear freeze and beef up Eastern's security to help prevent rape."

Dan Zicarelli

Senior Dan Zicarelli is vying for the seat of off-campus senator because he would like to be "of service to the students at Eastern."

A personnel management major from Arlington Heights, Zicarelli said, "I believe that I am very visible on campus and students will be able to come to me with problems or issues so I can in turn relate these problems to the student senate."

Matthew Geber

Senior Matthew Geber, an English major from Venice Beach, California, is running for an off-campus senate seat.

At-large hopefuls present qualifications, view

Mike Smith

Although junior Mike Smith has no previous student government experience, he said he believes this may work to his advantage if he is elected to the Student Senate.

"Without any experience in government, I think my advantage will be that, as a senator, I won't have any election promises that I haven't kept," he noted.

Smith, a psychology major from Centralia, also noted that he "wants to vote" because he "never gets to vote."

He is seeking election to the senate in the at-large district.

Pepe Martin Conran

As a former government staff reporter for The Daily Eastern News, junior Pepe Martin Conran said his News experience created a desire to represent the voice of the students.

Conran said he is running for the seat of at-large district senator to allow him to express student opinion and inform students about happenings on their campus.

Conran, a speech-communication major from Charleston, said if elected he would try to "get all of the factions on campus to work together and to reduce student apathy."

Ann Hasara

With previous student government experience ranging from the Senate Legislative Committee to the Auditing Committee, sophomore Ann Hasara seeks election as an at-large senator.

"I would like to run for Student Senate because I'm interested in helping the students of Eastern," she said. "I feel I can be a dedicated senator and bring new ideas to the university."

Hasara, a computer management major from Springfield, said if elected she would like to reinstitute the bus service from Charleston to Mattoon for "inexpensive transportation" for students.

Rob Rasmussen

If elected, freshman Rob Rasmussen said he would "represent both off- and on-campus students and express their views unilaterally."

Rasmussen, a psychology major from Northbrook, said he has participated in student government at the high school level through various non-elected positions.

"I am running for a senate seat in the at-large district because I think the views of off-campus students should have more political interaction with on campus students," he said.

Terese Papa

Freshman Terese Papa has been involved in student government in high school as junior class vice president, council member and in college as a member of the senate auditing committee.

"I am running for at-large senator because I want to better the lines of communication between the Student Senate and the student body via media and newsletters," she said.

Papa, a political science major from Melrose Park, said if elected she will see that bike racks are placed in front of the Science and Buzzard Buildings.

Larry Markey

Currently, senior Larry Markey holds the position of auditing committee chairman and he has been involved with Student Senate for three semesters.

"I have seen many problems in this university and I feel through hard work I can remedy them," he said.

Markey, a finance and economics major from Flossmoor, said if elected he would like to implement teacher evaluations on a larger scale and post the evaluations for student access in Booth Library.

Ann Guite

Junior Ann Guite has been active on the Student Senate Student Awareness committee and is currently seeking election to the senate as an at-large senator.

"I feel I will represent the at-large district well by being aware of the problems on campus and working to get these problems solved," she said.

Guite, a computer management major from St. Francisville, noted that if elected her goals would be to get the potholes in the sidewalks on campus repaired and to get more announcement boards on campus.

Kim Swanson

Being involved in student government for the past six years has enabled freshman Kim Swanson to know a "great deal about government and its importance."

Swanson, a speech communication major from Wheaton, has been active in Eastern's senate and student awareness committee. "I feel that student concerns are very important, but are often times overlooked," she said.

In addition, she noted that she would like to make sure student concerns are voiced and seriously considered.

If elected, Swanson said her main goal will be trying to get more students informed and involved in senate and senate organizations and committees.

Karen Wessel

Appointed as a residence hall senator earlier this fall, senior Karen Wessel is seeking election as an at-large district senator.

"I have always taken an active interest in student government," she noted. "I feel I can effectively represent the students as an at-large senator."

Wessel, a graphic design major from Buffalo Grove, said she enjoys the challenge of seeing a project start and develop into an implemented idea.

If elected, Wessel said she would continue her work on an academic affairs system and a program to better inform students of penalties for breaking student conduct code regulations.

David Carmody

Although he was once elected a high student body president but declined the offer because "of the rest of the government's obsession with money and pet rocks," senior David Carmody now seeks a seat as at-large senator.

"I am running for senator because I have a headfull of ideas that are making me insane," he said. "I side with the apathetic student because I was once before," he decided to run for the Senate.

Carmody, a computer mathematics major from Reisterstown, Maryland, said he dislikes people but added that he "can't be a seshoe like I don't know what."

Michael Ashack

Sophomore Michael Ashack has been active in his high school student government and is running for the seat of at-large senator.

"I want my input to be heard in the senate," he said. Ashack is a science major from Flossmoor.

If elected, he would like to promote intramural sports in the residence hall work toward obtaining later hours in Booth Library.

Teresa Collard

As a member of the Student Senate the past year and a half, senior Teresa Collard seeks re-election as an at-large senator.

"I think I can be an effective senator for the students at Eastern and am willing to work for the student body," she said. "I also feel for the past year and a half have been an asset to student government."

Collard, a political science and communication major from St. Charles, said if elected she would "do her best to represent the students and work in areas where needed." In addition, she would strive for a unified and productive senate.

Busboom, a speech communications major from Champaign, added that she wants to develop a checking service for students that would be open on Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. because "students have no where to go when the stores that cash checks are closed."

Scott Framzgrote

Sophomore Scott Franzgrote, a sociology major from Elk Grove Village, said Eastern students have a great influence in university policy and he wants, as an off-campus senator, "to continue to be a part of the student voice on campus."

In addition, Franzgrote said if elected, he plans "to increase communication and cooperation between the Student and Faculty Senates and have more Faculty-Student Senate forums."

He said he also would like to have teacher evaluation forms filled out by students every semester for each class they enroll in so they can be used in a constructive, uniform manner.

Dwayne Gunville

Junior Dwayne Gunville is vying for a off-campus senate seat because "there are student needs which I feel I could satisfy and I would like to be a member of committees that I think need some improvement."

Junior David Whetherton, an economics major from Bartlett, said, if elected as an off-campus Student Senator, he would help develop relations with the Faculty Senate for the benefit of students.

"I would become involved in the continuation of senate committies performing an effective way to represent the students of Eastern," he added. "I feel that with the right people, the senate will be willing to work hard in an effective forum in which the students would be able to express their opinions."

Dee Christoff

Senior Dee Christoff is seeking an off-campus senate position because "I feel that talk minus action equals zero."

She said people who have complaints or are concerned about the way university policies are made should become involved adding, "I'm concerned, so I want to become involved."

Christoff said, if elected, she plans to look into reasons for the declining black student enrollment and thinks the Student Senators should communicate more often and more directly with Faculty Senate.

Gigi Kupsche

Junior Gigi Kupsche, who is currently serving on the Student Senate Awareness Committee and Campus Security Commission, is running for an off-campus senate seat because she feels her involvement in senate shows she has the experience and drive needed for the position.

Kupsche said if she is elected, "I would like to see more communication between the Eastern students and the senate" adding that to accomplish this, she would like the senate to have frequent publications to inform students of senate goals and activities.

Residence challengers offer ideas

Leanne Hofbauer

Leanne Hofbauer, a journalism major from Martinton, is running for a seat in the residence hall district.

Hofbauer will serve those who elected me the way I can. If they have a complaint, I want them to know they can come to me and I'll look into the matter," she said.

Hofbauer's previous experience includes holding several offices in her 4-H

Hofbauer said, "I am running for a seat because I like government and to get involved in governing the student body."

LaRon Wilhelm

Sophomore LaRon Wilhelm said she is running for a seat in the residence hall district because "I'm concerned about going on with the students."

Wilhelm, a home economics major, said she would attempt to make Coleman Hall available to students during evening hours for those who want a quiet place to study but do not want to use library facilities.

Wilhelm added, "Study rooms in Coleman Hall could contribute help to campus by making the walk shorter for students on and past the south end of campus."

Wilhelm also said she would like "to have a list of student tutors available for students on campus."

Baczowski

Baczowski is a sophomore communications major from Bar-

Baczowski said he is running for a seat "because there are some lame ideas in government—I wish to wake up."

Baczowski added, "There are times for fun but fun is the ruler of mine and of your destinies."

Baczowski also said, "I plan to do as much better than my previous government ancestry."

Toni Woodrome

Toni Woodrome said she is seeking a senate post in the residence hall district because she can help the senate and bring in some new ideas.

Woodrome is a sophomore from Belleville majoring in computational mathematics.

"I feel I can help the senate and give some new and different ideas," she said.

In addition, Woodrome said she will "do my best to help student government and make my term in office a productive and memorable one."

Woodrome's experience includes being treasurer of her high school's student council for three years, she said.

Barry Shawgo

Junior Barry Shawgo said he is running for senate in the residence hall district "because this is the area in which I have the most knowledge and experience."

Shawgo, a journalism major from Mason City, said his previous experience includes having been Thomas Hall President and a member of the Residence Hall Association.

Student Senate "can be a very important and effective organization if knowledgeable and hard-working students get involved," he said.

If elected, Shawgo said he "would like to see the working relationship between senate and other student organizations such as RHA, Black Student Union and Interfraternity Council enhanced."

Lucy Fiedler

Sophomore Lucy Fiedler wants to voice the opinions of students and be able to follow up on them as a senator.

Fiedler is an accounting major from Belleville running for a residence hall senate position.

Fiedler said her plans if elected are "to voice the opinions and ideas of the students and work to follow them up."

She is running for senator because "I want to get involved in the Eastern Community and try to improve it," Fiedler said.

Fiedler's previous experience in student government includes being her high school homeroom representative.

Joel Lopez

Freshman Joel Lopez is interested in coordinating a rape and assault awareness program for students if elected.

Lopez, who is running for a residence hall senate post, plans to establish a coordinator from the Student Senate, Faculty Senate and Residence Hall Association to provide and promote this program for student awareness, he said.

His past experience in student government includes being a member of the Senate Housing Committee and the Off-Campus Student Housing Agency, and attending Residence Hall Association meetings.

Lopez is a pre-business major from Champaign-Urbana.

Michelle Long

Freshman Michelle Long, a political science major, said she would like to see programs implemented for the convenience of hall residents.

Long, who is running for a post in the residence hall district, emphasized goals that would directly effect the hall residents.

These goals included labelling restrooms in halls during the weekend 24-hour visitation time, organizing typing pools in each hall and extending the times food is available for sale at hall desks.

Long was appointed to the senate in September and has served on the legislative committee.

Juniors John Roggi and Anthony Brunsvold did not turn in candidate profiles but are running in the residence hall district.

Vote judges hike's fate

by Linda Wagner

Students will be deciding the fate of a proposed $7 per semester athletic fee hike during the student government election Wednesday.

The referendum question on the election ballot will read "Are you in favor of a $7 per semester increase for each student in the athletic operations fee?"

If approved by the student body, Athletic Director R.C. Johnson's proposal could cost students an additional $130,000 in athletic fees and increase the athletic department's operational budget to about $820,000 for 1985-86.

In 1980, the student body approved a $9 athletic fee hike with the guarantee that the athletic department would not request additional funds for four years.

The athletic department has placed an identical freeze on this year's proposed fee hike.

This year students will dish out $17.55 a semester in fees earmarked for the department and 19 sports programs. The proposed fee hike would represent a 40 percent increase in student fee support.

"What we hope to do is bring our athletic programs in line with our sister institutions in the state," Johnson said.

However, Johnson said a breakdown of where and how much student fee funds would go to which sport program is not possible.

"We can guarantee that each sport will get a certain percentage," Johnson noted. The amount allocated will depend largely on the program budgets comprised during the spring.

Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said an informational sheet concerning the proposed athletic fee hike will be available at the polling areas.

Americans honor nation's veterans

From parades to solemn graveside ceremonies, Americans on Sunday marked Veterans Day by honoring those who served their country, with some noting a "new spark of patriotism" and others renewing calls for peace.

In Boston, about 500 people gathered in the Statehouse Hall of Flags for a somber ceremony commemorating the signing of the 1918 armistice ending World War I.

The holiday was known as Armistice Day until 1954, when Veterans Day was officially adopted. Some vets at the Boston ceremony wore the jungle fatigues they wore in Vietnam, others the uniforms of World War II, and one Korean veteran came in his wheelchair.

In Washington D.C., thousands of veterans gathered at the Vietnam Memorial to pay homage to their dead colleagues. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said, "a nation that forgets the sacrifices of its heroes risks its very existence."

Sunday's activities in Washington also included the traditional placing of flowers at the Tomb of the Unknowns at Arlington National Cemetery.

"We have gathered to celebrate the end of the war," Weinberger told the 5,000 people at the ceremony. He said the key to this is "deterrent strength."

On Friday, a seven-foot statue called "Three Servicemen," was unveiled at the memorial.

Bishops stress helping poor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's Catholic bishops, in a major new effort to influence public policy, demanded on Sunday more jobs for the jobless and a narrowing of "morally unacceptable" gaps between rich and poor.

The first draft of the bishops' new economic policy letter raises many of the "fairness issues" that Walter Mondale used during the presidential campaign in an attempt to portray President Reagan's policies as favoring the rich over the poor.

However, the letter is not—as some conservative critics had predicted—an outright indictment of American capitalism in the 1980s nor a manifesto for more centralized government planning. Nor is it a detailed blueprint for organizational or policy change.

Rather, it provides a moral framework for economic decisions, insisting over and over that they be made with more consideration for those too poor, ignorant or discriminated against to defend their own interest.

Recalling the difficulties the nation's founders overcame in creating a political democracy two centuries ago, the bishops asked for no less than a "similar experiment in economic democracy: the creation of an order that guarantees the minimum conditions of human dignity in the economic sphere for every person."

The bishops assert that "the fact that more than 15 percent of our nation's population live below the official poverty level is a social and moral scandal that cannot be ignored." And they say statements, made by administration officials as well as others, that unemployment levels of about 6 percent might constitute "full employment" are "morally unjustified."

On the other hand, the letter also praises an "encouraging record" of American success in respecting people's basic economic rights.

It makes clear the bishops have no quarrel with such American economic pillars and the concepts of private property and extra monetary reward for extra effort. "A key element in removing poverty is prevention through a healthy economy," the letter says.

Still, the critical passages—as well as what some critics see as clerical meddling in secular affairs—seem likely to stir controversy, perhaps rivaling the outcry from Reagan officials and others over the bishops' 1983 letter condemning nuclear war and criticizing administration policy on nuclear weapons.

Claiming little personal expertise, they say they interviewed more than 100 economists, theologians, business people, labor conservatives and others including "economic advisers from conservative and liberal administrations."

Such letters are not orders requiring obedience from the nation's 50 million Catholics. They are published as teaching guides, significant in providing the basis for Catholic thought on important matters and also aimed at influencing public debate.

Sunday's first draft of the Pastoral Letter on Catholic Social Teaching and the U.S. Economy, one year in the making, could face substantial revision before being approved next year by America's more than 300 Catholic archbishops and bishops—organized as the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

needed and collecting that data.

Preston said once the committee collects its data, they will make recommendations to the administration and departments on retention.

"We want to inform students and faculty about what we're doing," he said. "A lot of faculty aren't aware or are vaguely aware of what we're doing."

"The retention program is not to retain every student but to help retain the students who want to stay," Preston added.

"A lot of the time students aren't aware that they can get help and talk to someone," he said. "There are many options to choose from other than quitting."

"What we're trying to do is enhance everyone's chances at Eastern," he added.

Preston said there are a number of services open to students that could help them and the committee is going to attempt to bring the facilities to the attention of students.

"There is testing and career counseling, the writing and reading center, the term paper clinic and information through the library," he said.

Preston said the committee is discussing a "great many things" concerning retention and is considering releasing a "student survival manual" and an academic and social orientation program.

"We think some students get frustrated socially as well as academically," Preston said. "There are two sides to it."

Moore said Eastern does a very good job of orientating freshman. The attrition rate for freshman at Eastern is below the average of what is expected for a school of the same size and type, she said.

Former chairman for the Academic Support and Retention Committee Steve Whitley said that students sometimes don't see "how far they can go on their degree."

"The degree is something extremely valuable. It can fit in with so many different areas, not just one field," Whitley said.

Spikers end '84 season on disappointing note(s)

by Mike Nelson

Eastern's volleyball team ended its 1984 campaign on a disappointing note when the spikers were swept by Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference foes Northern Iowa on Friday and Drake on Saturday.

The Panthers lost to Northern Iowa in five games, 15-10, 10-15, 9-15, 15-10 and 11-15.

Eastern jumped out an early 10-0 lead in the first game, but Northern Iowa came back to tie the game at 10-10. Things looked good for the Panthers as they broke away to win the first game 15-10.

However, Northern Iowa came back to take the second and third games, and a 2-1 lead in the best out of five series.

In the fourth game Eastern took what seemed to be a commanding 8-3 lead before Northern Iowa pulled to within one at 8-7. But the Panthers stayed off the rally to take the fourth game and tie the series 2-2.

Things looked dim for the Panthers in the fifth game as they fell behind 7-1 before bouncing back to tie it at 11-11. It was all for naught though, as Northern Iowa went on to take the fifth and final game 15-11.

There was a bright spot in the Panthers loss Friday though. Senior co-captain Donna Uhler broke the record for most kills in a game with 23, breaking her own mark of 22. Junior Judy Planos followed with 15 kills, while Gretchen Braker led the team in assists with 36.

On defense, sophomore Maura LeFevour broke the record for most solo blocks in a game with five. Braker led the team in digs with 20.

Saturday, Eastern was swept in three straight by Drake. In the first game the Panthers pulled out to an 8-3 lead until Drake rallied back to take a 9-8 lead on its way to a 15-10 win.

The Panthers fell behind 3-8 in the second game but came back to pull to 7-9. But Drake scored the next six points to take a 2-0 lead in the series.

An early 4-0 lead for the Panthers didn't help much as they lost the third and final game 16-14.

LeFevour led Eastern's offensive attack with seven kills and also led on defense with nine digs.

"It is very disappointing to lose our last five matches," Eastern head coach Betty Ralston said. "I think after losing to Western last weekend we just never recovered." Ralston.

Eastern finishes the season with a 17-20 record overall and a seventh-place tie in the GCAC.

NFL roundup

Dickerson becomes first to rush for 100 vs. Bears

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Los Angeles' Eric Dickerson, outgaining Chicago's Walter Payton in a duel of the NFL's top runners, rushed for 149 yards and scored twice early in the final period Sunday as the Rams rallied for a 29-13 victory over the Bears.

Dickerson carried 28 times as he became the first runner in 12 games to rush for more than 100 yards against the Bears' vaunted defense, which was tops in the league in total defense and stopping the run going into the contest.

The outcome left both teams with 7-4 records. The Bears still hold a three-game edge in the NFC Central while the Rams are three games behind San Francisco in the NFC West and are fighting for a wild card berth.

Broncos 16, Chargers 13

Sammy Winder dove in from one yard with 38 seconds left to give Denver a three-point victory over San Diego. The win improved Denver's AFC West leading record to 10-1, 1½ games ahead of Seattle and 2½ ahead of the Raiders. Winder's run capped a 77-yard drive during which Broncos QB John Elway completed four of six passes, including a 19-yarder to Butch Johnson. San Diego kicker Rolf Benirschke missed a 46-yard field goal attempt with two seconds left.

Bucs 20, Giants 17

Steve DeBerg's 10-yard touchdown pass to Kevin House forged a 10-10 tie late in the third quarter, and Tampa Bay moved ahead of the Giants on James Wilder's 1-yard run 4:42 into the fourth quarter.

Patriots 38, Bills 10

Tony Collins scored two touchdowns on short runs in the third quarter as New England broke open a close game against Buffalo. The victory kept the Patriots in the running for the AFC East title for at least one more week. Tony Eason threw three TD passes for New England as the Bills remained winless.

Bengals 22, Steelers 20

Reserve quarterback Turk Schonert guided Cincinnati on a last-gasp scoring drive that ended on Larry Kinnebrew's 3-yard touchdown run with 35 seconds left. The loss dropped the AFC Central leading Steelers to 6-5, while the Bengals are 4-7 and in second place.

Packers 45, Vikings 17

Lynn Dickey threw for four touchdowns, two in the third quarter to fullback Jessie Clark, and the Packers climbed out of the NFC Central with a 4-7 record. Minnesota was left at 3-8. Dickey completed 22 of 40 passes for 303 yards.

District IV Championship Harriers run best finish...

by Dan Verdun

CHAMPAIGN—Eastern's men's cross country team closed out the 1984 season by equaling its best finish ever in the NCAA District IV Championship Saturday at Lake of the Woods Course.

The Panthers placed 15th with 401 points, which matched last season's finish as Eastern's best since joining Division I in 1981.

"We knew going into the meet it was going to be a tough one because the competition was so strong," head coach Neil Moore said. "We had set a realistic team goal of beating our best finish in the meet ever."

Defending national champion Wisconsin earned its way into the NCAA Championship at Penn State by capturing the District IV title. The Badgers, currently ranked second nationally, were led by the first-place finish of John Escar at 29:09.8.

Big Ten Champion Illinois, 13th-ranked Michigan and 18th-rated Notre Dame also qualified for the national meet.

"I expect those teams to be right in the thick of things at nationals," Moore said. "I predict Wisconsin to repeat as national champions."

Eastern's top finisher was senior Nick Whiteside, who placed 50th with a 31:25.6 timing. The Mt. Vernon graduate was the Panthers' number-one runner in all seven meets this fall.

Senior Scott Pillsbury crossed the finish line at 31:36.2 to earn 56th position.

"Nick and Scott did a fine job all season," Moore said. "I have nothing but fine things to say about them."

Freshman Darrin Bishop closed out the season with an impressive showing by breaking the tape at the 32:43.7 mark to earn 96th.

"Bishop really goes out and goes after it," Moore said. "He ran like an upperclassman."

Panther Scott Tracy completed his first injury-free season with a 108th-place finish. The senior sprinted home with a 33:08.2 clocking.

Freshman Jeff Armstrong rounded out the top five Panther finishers by placing 121st at 33:50.7.

...while women finish 19th

by Dan Verdun

CHAMPAIGN—Eastern's women's cross country team should be relieved that the University of Detroit took part in Saturday's NCAA District IV Championship.

Had it not been for Detroit, Eastern would have finished dead-last in the season's final meet.

The Panthers amassed 442 team points to finish 19th in the 20-school field at the event. Only the Titans' 586 points kept Eastern out of the meet's cellar.

Wisconsin, the NCAA's number-one ranked team, rolled to the overall team title with 31 points. The Badgers, paced by Cathy Branta's 16:19 first-place finish, had all five of their runners turn in times under 17:00.

Junior Anne Ogle was Eastern's top placing harrier by running a personal best 18:27 to earn 72nd position.

"Anne left in style," Lowery said. "She'd had her troubles this season, but she really turned it on Saturday."

Junior Janine Jarris also set a personal record in Saturday's meet by crossing the finish line at the 18:34 mark.

Erin Healy raced home in 97th place to turn in an 18:52 showing on the Lake of the Woods course.

Freshmen Lisa Jostes and Deb Ziolkowski continued to impress Lowery by finishing the meet as the Panthers' fourth and fifth runners, respectively.

Despite the dark cloud that covered Eastern's season, Lowery managed to find a silver lining.

Panthers bomb Hilltoppers in season finale

by Jeff Long

It was a convincing way to end what was otherwise an unconvincing season.

Behind a 40-point first half and nearly 11,000 "waving" fans, Eastern steamrolled to its seventh-straight winning season with a 50-19 drubbing of Western Kentucky Saturday at O'Brien Stadium.

In the process, the Panthers put together their first winning streak of the year to finish 6-5 and also topped the 400-yard passing mark for the third consecutive game.

Record-setting quarterback Sean Payton delivered his usual once again. In the first quarter alone, the sophomore threw for 248 yards, and by halftime his total was up to 373 yards and four touchdowns.

"Payton really feels comfortable with our offense," head coach Al Molde said. "He picked them apart inside pretty well. It was just an amazing first half."

Payton would finish the day with 22 completions on 36 attempts for 461 yards and five touchdowns before being relieved late in the third quarter.

In the wake of his brilliant three-quarter performance fell a six-year Eastern record for touchdown passes in a season. Payton's five scoring strikes brought his season total to 28, eclipsing Steve Turk's former record of 25.

"Without the cast that we have, none of this would have taken place," Payton said. "I can't say enough about the offensive line—they did a great job. They won't get all the publicity that the receivers and myself will get, but deservedly they should."

Although he has played behind a young offensive line all season, Payton credits the "hogs" for a large part of the success in his phenomenal season. Payton ends the season as the only

All-American wide receiver Jerry Wright pulls in his last touchdown as a Panther Saturday at O'Brien Stadium; a 4-yarder from Sean Payton. Wright ended his Eastern career with four receptions for 64 yards and two touchdowns as the Panthers beat Western Kentucky 50-19 (News photo by Frank Polich)

Panther quarterback to top 3,000 yards in one campaign, finishing with 3,843.

"I've been able to come off my first receiver and look at my second and third because of them (offensive line), and when that happens there's no one in the country that's going to stop us," Payton said.

One of Payton's favorite targets, Roy Banks, was the recipient of five passes Saturday. The sophomore out of Detroit not only turned those receptions into 125 yards, he scored two touchdowns to establish a new school record.

Banks' two TDs brought his season total to 17 and erased the former record of 16 held jointly by Scott

McGhee and Poke Cobb.

"Today was a case of total domination," Payton said. "If we wanted to, we could have scored 100 points on these guys—we didn't even run up the score."

Not only was the passing game clicking Saturday for the Panthers—but they had a rushing game to go along with it. DuWayne Pitts ran for 80 yards as the Panthers rushed for 96 on the day.

However, Pitts was most effective as a receiver. Eastern ran screens successfully all day long, while sprinkling in an occasional bomb as evidenced by Banks' 71-yard touchdown.

"That (screen) has been setting up real well," Pitts said. "Most of the time we run that play to the tight end, but a lot of teams were jumping on that so we just changed it up a bit."

As the offense was smoking its way to 50 points, the Panther defense turned in another impressive showing, signs that this young unit is beginning to solidify.

Eastern held the Hilltoppers to 181 yards passing while recording two interceptions. The Hilltoppers, 2-9, had entered the game ranked 13th in passing at an average of 260 yards.

Saturday was also the last game for wide receiver Jerry Wright, who will go down in the books as the finest pass receiver to wear an Eastern uniform.

Wright, the All-American from Chicago, caught four passes for 64 yards and two touchdowns Saturday. He ends his collegiate career as Eastern's all-time receiving yardage leader.

"Sure it was a good way to end it," he reflected. "I thought it was going to hit me after the final second, but it hasn't dawned on me yet. It still feels like I'm coming back next weekend."

Boaters end regular season with 2-0 win over UIC, hopeful of playoff bid

by Brent Feeney

CHICAGO—Eastern's soccer team finished its 1984 regular season on a high note Saturday, defeating Illinois-Chicago 2-0.

The victory was a perfect end to the boaters' season, according to senior Guy Callipari.

"We had to overcome quite a bit of adversity this year," Callipari said. "We had a new coach come in, we had some key injuries and not very much depth."

Despite all of that, the Panthers finished the season 11-5-1, won the Wisconsin-Green Bay tournament, and defeated several good teams, including a 1-0 victory over St. Louis.

"We're peaking at the right time," Callipari said. "If we can get a playoff bid from the NCAA, anything can happen."

Playing conditions were good Saturday—considering it was a November day in Chicago. "It was pretty cold, and a stiff wind was blowing off the lake," Callipari said. "Despite all that, we outplayed them, controlled them throughout the game."

The Panthers scored once in each half. The first goal came off an indirect free kick about 20 yards from the goal, when Neil Swindells split a Flame defensive wall with a perfect pass to Callipari, who tucked the ball into the net about 30 minutes after the start of the match.

In the second half, Matt Gamache scored on a scramble from three yards out with five minutes expired in the second half. The Panthers had several more good chances to score, but could not put the ball away.

Chris Mackie went all the way for the shutout, the ninth for Eastern this year. It was a very big one, too, because regular goalie Mark Simpson will be out of any playoff games because of a broken hand.

"Mark broke his hand during a practice before the St. Louis game," Callipari said. "He played four games with it before it showed up in the X-rays. He's got a cast on it now, and the doctors have told him not to play anymore this year."

If the Panther kickers do receive a playoff bid, Callipari would like to play Southern Methodist.

Former Panther coach Schellas Hyndman is coaching there now, but Callipari says the revenge factor does not apply here.

"I would like to play SMU down the road, only to see how we could do against them. I don't feel that we want to get revenge against our old coach, we just haven't played them this year, and we would like to see if we could beat them," Callipari said.

"If we do get a playoff spot, that would be great," he added. "If we don't, though, we can take knowledge of the fact that we did have a very good season. I don't think that anybody expected us to have as good a year as we did, what with a new coach, a lack of depth, and some pretty young players."

Cowboys top Cards to retain first-place share in NFC East

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Gary Hogeboom threw a 26-yard fourth quarter touchdown pass to Ron Springs to break a 17-all tie Sunday as the Dallas Cowboys took advantage of six turnovers to beat the mistake-prone Cardinals 24-17 and leave the NFC East race with the familiar faces of Dallas and Washington at the top.

Hogeboom's TD toss to Springs with 9:03 left, the second of the day for the Cowboys' quarterback, came three plays after Victor Scott had intercepted a Neil Lomax pass that had been tipped away from Roy Green by Dennis Thurman.

St. Louis had four fumbles, was intercepted twice; had a touchdown called back because of offensive pass interference and a field goal attempt blocked to set up the Cowboys' first score. Lomax was also sacked six times by the Cowboys.

The win improved the Cowboys' record to 7-4 and put them in a first-place tie in the NFC East with Washington, which beat Detroit 20-14. Those two had entered the day in a four-way tie with the Cards and the New York Giants, who lost to Tampa Bay.

Trailing 17-7 at the half, the Cards took less than two minutes to take the ball 62 yards for a touchdown as Lomax began to find Green.
